New ENGLISH FILE

Beginner

and the

Common European Framework of Reference

OXFORD

What is this booklet for?

The aim of this booklet is to give a clear and simple introduction to the Common European Framework of Reference, and to show how it works with New English File. This document is not a summary of the Common European Framework of Reference (CEF), which is an extremely comprehensive and detailed document of over 250 pages. This introduction highlights points of particular interest, and if detailed information is required, teachers are advised to consult the original document.

The main body of this document maps each Student's Book unit of New English File Beginner and refers to the competences detailed in the CEF.

Why do we need a Common European Framework?

The Council of Europe, an organization that includes nearly 50 European countries, began to develop the Common European Framework in 1991. One of the main purposes of the Council of Europe is to promote a shared European identity, while recognizing the importance of different cultures. The promotion of language teaching and learning plays a central role in this mission. People within Europe, and indeed throughout the world, need to be able to understand each other. The Council of Europe therefore wishes to encourage people to learn languages and develop their ability to communicate with people from other countries and cultures.

What is the CEF? What are its aims?

The CEF is a carefully developed descriptive framework. It has often closely linked educational and social aims including:

- to encourage the development of language skills, so that people can work together more effectively.
- to encourage the development of inter-cultural awareness and 'plurilingualism'.
- to examine and define what we can do with a language.
- to help us compare the language levels of individuals in an accurate and impartial way, across different countries, educational systems, ages, and cultures.
- to encourage learner autonomy and lifelong learning.
- to promote a coherent approach to language teaching – not by imposing a system of its own, but by encouraging the sharing of ideas.

What are the CEF levels?

There are six global levels in the CEF – what these levels reflect is shown in the table on the following pages. Behind these levels are a very large number of competences which make up a person's language ability – these are defined by 'descriptors'.

The CEF says that teachers shouldn't feel that they have to use these levels in their teaching situations. They are intended to be common reference points. It is also important to remember that these levels are purely descriptive, and that they don't necessarily correspond to a year of study, or to 100 hours of study, for example. Everyone has different aims and learns at different speeds, in different environments, and in different ways. The CEF is careful to point out that the levels are not 'linear' – that is, the time needed to move from A1 to A2 may not be the same as that needed to move from B1 to B2, or C1 to C2, and progress from level to level may slow down as a person moves up the levels. The CEF recommends 'extreme caution' in trying to calculate or predict how long it will take to move from one CEF level to the next.

How do the CEF levels correspond to New English File*?*

New English File Beginner covers A1.

New English File Elementary revises A1 and leads into A2.

New English File Pre-intermediate briefly revises A2 before covering approximately half of the competences required for B1.

New English File Intermediate covers the competences required for B1, and introduces some of the competences of B2. Students who have successfully completed New English File Intermediate are typically ready to sit the Cambridge PET examination.

New English File Upper-intermediate briefly revises B1 competences, then goes on to cover B2. Students who have successfully completed New English File Upper-intermediate are typically ready to sit the Cambridge FCE examination.

What does the CEF say about teaching and learning?

■ Teaching

Here are some of the things that the CEF says about teaching and the teacher's role:

- The CEF doesn't promote a particular language teaching methodology. It suggests that the methods teachers use should be appropriate to the teaching context and the social context. It recognizes that effective teaching depends on lots of variables, and that there's a huge range of possible teaching methods and materials.
- It recognizes that teachers have to think on their feet and be flexible and responsive to their students' needs.
- It suggests that teachers need to understand why they're doing what they do, and help to define their learners' objectives, and it acknowledges that experience is extremely valuable in helping them do this.
- It suggests that teachers should help students as much as they can to develop both their language knowledge and their ability to learn (in class and on their own).

These points offer a reassuring indication that the CEF doesn't set out to change teachers and the way they teach. It encourages a focus on communicative ability (the end result) rather than 'knowing language', but it isn't a new methodology or a new approach to teaching, and it doesn't introduce new syllabus elements. It doesn't tell you what to do – but that's a good thing. It allows for as many different teaching styles as there have always been, and it's not trying to make everyone teach the same things in the same way. We think there are two key points for teachers:

- The CEF focuses on the 'end result' of teaching – if you keep this end in mind too, and if you cover a comprehensive language syllabus and include active work on the four skills, then you don't need to make radical changes to your teaching practices.
- You need not only to teach but also to help your students develop as autonomous learners – partly to improve their current language learning skills, and partly to help them throughout their language learning lives.

■ Learning

A real strength of the CEF for students is that it focuses on the positive – on what they can do, not on what they can't do. All levels of performance from A1 upwards are valued, and students should feel positive about the growing list of things that they know they can do.

Here are some of the things the CEF says about learning and the learner's role:

- Language teaching needs to be 'learner-centred' because it is ultimately the learner who has to do the learning.
- Learners need to take more responsibility for planning and carrying out their own learning. They sometimes tend to be 'reactive' (they do what the teacher tells them to do) but they need to be autonomous, and to study effectively on their own …
- … so they need to 'learn to learn' and to be made aware of the ways they can do this.

These statements stress that language learning is ultimately in the hands of the learner, and that we need to help students not only by teaching them, but also by encouraging them to learn independently.

Is New English File compatible with the CEF?

Yes, definitely. The CEF focuses on using language in real, communicative contexts, and so does New English File. The CEF encourages the development of the ability to 'do things' in a foreign language, not just to 'know about' that language, and this is an aim we all share – though students also need to 'know about' a language in order to function successfully in that language. As the CEF says, '… a language learner has to acquire both form and meaning'. For example, an A1 descriptor might be 'can understand simple directions'. In order to do this, students need to know lexical items (left, right, straight on, first, second, third), grammatical elements such as imperatives (take the …, turn …), and probably be able to ask for repetition. New English File teaches the language and skills that students will need in order to develop their range of communicative competences.

Here are some examples of how New English File fits with the aims of the CEF:

- The Grammar, Vocabulary, and Pronunciation syllabus gives students the linguistic competences they need to be able to communicate successfully.
- Regular receptive and productive work on the four skills – every lesson has speaking activities, and every File has listening, reading, and writing – emphasises what students do with English.
- Clear lesson aims are given for each lesson, so learners know what the lesson objectives are.
- The Practical English lessons teach students language for performing essential everyday functions such as asking for directions, asking opinions, and saying the date.
- The 'What can you do?' pages at the end of every File ask students to see what they can achieve with language they have studied – a strong focus on the 'end result'.
- The English File* Pronunciation pictures help students to work on pronunciation autonomously, and to use dictionaries more effectively.
- The Workbook, MultiROM, and student's website all give students extra practice and learning resources.
- The Study Link feature helps students see where they can find extra help and extra practice – one of the main obstacles to autonomous learning is that students don't know what to do to improve their English, and Study Link helps to make it clear. There are regular Study Link references to the Grammar Bank, the Vocabulary Bank, the MultiROM, and the student's website.
- The Teacher's Book gives you all the support you need, including extra photocopiable material and ideas so you can respond to your students' needs.

The CEF emphasizes that teachers and materials writers will continue to need to make their own decisions about the precise linguistic content of their courses – and that is what we have done in New English File. We hope that the decisions we have made in writing the course help you and your students as much as they can.

Common European Framework of Reference Level Overview

proficient	C2	Mastery	This level isn't supposed to equal 'native speaker' mastery – though a student at this level would be a very successful learner who can use a language with real precision and fluency.
	C1	Effective Operational Proficiency	At this level students command a wide range of language.
independent	B2	Vantage	This level is where language use begins to become more 'abstract', for example giving and justifying opinions, summarizing a short story or plot, or giving detailed instructions.
	B1	Threshold	At this level students can maintain a conversation and express ideas. They can also begin to deal with problems and situations where they meet unpredictable language.
basic	A2	Waystage	This level has lots of descriptors for social functions, for example greeting people, asking about work and free time, and making invitations.
	A1	Breakthrough	This is the lowest level of 'generative language use' – students can interact in a simple way and ask and answer simple questions.
The CEF recognizes a level of ability below A1, which includes descriptors like 'can say yes, no, please, thank you', 'can use some basic greetings', 'can fill in uncomplicated forms'.
The CEF also recognizes that there can be levels between these six global levels, like A2+, B1+ and B2+.			For a breakdown of the six global levels above, see chapter 3 of the CEF. For detailed scales for each area of competence, see chapter 4 of the CEF.

Level: A1

DESCRIPTOR	STUDENT'S BOOK PAGES
Coherence and cohesion: A1 User can link words or groups of words with very basic linear connectors like 'and' or 'then'.	35, 39
Creative writing: A1 User can write simple phrases and sentences about themselves and imaginary people, where they live and what they do.	35
Goal-oriented co-operation: A1 User can understand questions and instructions addressed carefully and slowly to him/her and follow short simple directions.	70, 71
Grammatical accuracy: A1 User shows only a limited control of a few simple grammatical structures and sentence patterns in a learnt repertoire.	5, 6, 9, 14, 16, 17, 18, 24, 27, 28, 34, 36, 38, 44, 46, 48, 49, 54, 55, 56, 57, 59, 60, 64, 66, 68
Identifying cues and inferring: A1 User can use an idea of the overall meaning of short texts and utterances on everyday topics of a concrete type to derive the probable meaning of unknown words from the context.	26, 29, 35, 47
Information exchange: A1 User can ask and answer questions about themselves and other people, where they live, people they know, things they have. A1 User can indicate time by such phrases as next week, last Friday, in November, three o'clock.	25, 29, 37, 46 30, 31, 37, 67
Interview and being interviewed: A1 User can reply in an interview to simple direct questions spoken very slowly and clearly in direct non-idiomatic speech about personal details.	21
Listening to announcements and instructions: A1 User can understand instructions addressed carefully and slowly to him/her and follow short, simple directions.	70, 71
Orthographic control: A1 User can spell his/her address, nationality and other personal details.	21
Overall listening comprehension: A1 User can follow speech which is very slow and carefully articulated, with long pauses for him/her to assimilate meaning.	4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 15, 16, 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 27, 28, 30, 31, 34, 36, 38, 40, 41, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 51, 54, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 66, 67, 68, 69
Overall oral production: A1 User can produce simple mainly isolated phrases about people and places.	4, 7, 8, 9, 10, 17, 24, 26, 27, 29, 34, 35, 36, 44, 48, 49, 51, 54, 55, 56, 59, 65, 68
Overall reading comprehension: A1 User can understand short, simple texts a single phrase at a time, picking up familiar names, words and basic phrases and re-reading as required.	4, 8, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 24, 26, 28, 29, 34, 35, 38, 41, 46, 49, 50, 54, 58, 64, 66
Overall spoken interaction: A1 User can ask and answer simple questions, initiate and respond to simple statements in areas of immediate need or on very familiar topics.	4, 6, 7, 11, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 24, 25, 27, 29, 31, 34, 37, 38, 39, 41, 45, 46, 49, 50, 51, 55, 56, 57, 58, 60, 61, 67
Overall written production: A1 User can write simple isolated phrases and sentences.	15, 16, 19, 27, 29, 34, 39, 48, 57, 65, 66, 68

Phonological control: A1 User has pronunciation of a very limited repertoire of learnt words and phrases and can be understood with some effort by native speakers used to dealing with speakers of his/her language group.	5, 7, 9, 14, 16, 19, 25, 27, 28, 29, 31, 34, 37, 38, 40, 44, 46, 48, 54, 57, 59, 65, 66, 69
Reading for information and argument: A1 User can get the main idea of the content of simpler informational material and short simple descriptions, especially if there is visual support.	36, 47, 55, 56, 65
Sociolinguistic appropriateness: A1 User can establish basic social contact by using the simplest everyday polite forms of: greetings and farewells, introductions, saying please, thank you, sorry, etc.	4, 5, 10, 11, 20
Transaction to obtain goods and services: A1 User can ask people for things and give people things. A1 User can handle numbers, quantities, cost and time.	41 30, 40, 41, 50, 51
Vocabulary range: A1 User has a basic repertoire of isolated words and phrases related to particular concrete situations.	5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 14, 15, 16, 18, 20, 24, 25, 26, 29, 30, 31, 34, 35, 37, 39, 44, 45, 48, 50, 54, 56, 58, 64, 67, 69, 70, 71
