Sandra What do you do, Adam?
Adam Oh, I'm a barman.
Sandra A barman?
Adam Yeah. I work in a bar in the city centre. It's a wine bar but we make Mexican food, too.
Sandra Do you like your job?
Adam Sure.
Sandra What do you like about it?
Adam Well, I don't get up early. My wife gets up at six in the morning but I get up at ten. And the bar is near my home. I walk to work every day and that's very nice. I don't have a car, you see. And I meet a lot of people.
Sandra Do you work long hours?
Adam Well, yes. I don't go to bed before 12. It's usually one in the morning or two at weekends before I go to bed. And I always work on Saturday and sometimes on Sundays. But I never work on Mondays. Mondays are fantastic. It's my favourite day of the week.

Curator I'm sorry, sir, but you can't use your mobile phone in the museum.
Joe Oh. Sorry … er … where can I use it?
Curator Well, you can go outside, sir. Or you can use it in the coffee shop.
Joe The coffee shop?
Curator Yes, sir. It's …

Jim What time do you finish work, Vicky?
Vicky Oh, well, I work late on Fridays and I sometimes finish at seven or eight. But from Monday to Thursday I always finish at six.
Jim OK. Well, do you want to …

Jake What sports do people do in the winter in your country, Elena?
Elena Well, it's very cold here. We can ski in the mountains, of course. But we can't swim in the sea in the winter! A lot of people like football but we don't play tennis or golf outside.

Mike Can I have a coffee and a sandwich, please?
Dawn Sure. Here you are.
Mike Thank you. How much is that?
Dawn Er … the coffee is one pound twenty and the sandwich is two pounds sixty. So that's three pounds eighty.
Mike OK. Thank you.

Kate Hi, mum.
Mum Oh hi, Kate. Are you tired?
Kate No, I'm hot. I want a nice cold drink of water.
Mum Sit down and I'll get you one. Do you want a sandwich, too?
Kate No, thanks.
